DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The amended recitation of electrically isolated is considered new matter because that feature is not considered to be described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Specifically the specification discusses that the element might be electrically grounded on page 4 lines 11-12, which is not considered to be electrically isolated as claimed because to be electrically grounded requires a non-isolated relationship, i.e. an electrical conductor must be connected to a ground as specified. Since each of the dependent claims incorporate the considered new matter, either directly or indirectly, each is rejected as having new matter incorporated by dependency.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Karey et al. (US 4,757,183).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Karey in view of Cantor (US 6,094,837). Karey is considered to disclose the claimed invention, as discussed above under the anticipatory rejection, except for the claimed comb teeth extension. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to combine the teachings of Karey with comb teeth extension, considered to be taught in Cantor at column 4 lines 14-49, for the purpose of allowing hair dryer manipulation of the drying subject intended to be transactionally related.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. References B through D, cited in this action are considered to disclose hair dryer temperature regulation.
